

GREAT LAKES CAFO MANURE CONFERENCE MAY 1-2

Experts say there are four key rivers in the Great Lakes watershed with excess nutrients, aka harmful algae: Maumee River (Erie), Lower Fox River (Michigan), Saginaw River (Huron), and Genessee River (Ontario).

We know there are more that should also be included.

This year's Lake Erie Conference focus's on a major nutrient source, CAFO's and Manure. The goal is to create a GL CAFO Manure network to help with manure runoff challenges and to educate and network with GL CAFO Manure advocates.
